

KITSAP PUBLIC HEALTH DISTRICT

The Kitsap Public Health District recently received national accreditation from the Public Health Accreditation Board (PHAB).

PHAB sets standards by which the nation's governmental public health departments can continuously improve the quality of their services and performance. To receive accreditation, a health department must undergo a rigorous, multi-faceted, peer-reviewed assessment process to ensure it meets or exceeds a set of quality standards and measures.

Kitsap Public Health now joins the Washington State Department of Health and Spokane Regional Health District as the only three accredited public health agencies in Washington State. As of May 2015, only 75 governmental public health departments nationwide—less than three percent—have received this high recognition of quality service and performance.

We take pride in this accomplishment and look forward to serving you better.
